12 REASONS FOR NEW TRIAL OF DILTZ LISTED

variation between a member of the jury and a deputy sheriff.

2.—Affidavit by Attorney Joseph W. Adkins, that after the verdict was returned he was in the chambers of Judge Radcliff and that in the presence of Judge Radcliff, Prosecutor Kenneth Robbins, Special Prosecutor Tom A. Renick, Attorney Emmitt L. Crist, Vaden Couch and Attorney Adkins, Deputy Sheriff Ralph Leist who serves also as common pleas court bailiff, declared "I heard one of the women jurors say that she knew all about this case as Carl Radcliff (deputy sheriff) had told her all about it." Attorney Adkins' affidavit says also that Deputy Radcliff stated that "that was some time ago."

3.—Affidavit by Attorney Weldon declaring that members of the Diltz jury were specifically asked if they had formed or expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of Diltz and that each replied he or she had not formed or expressed such opinion.

New Trial Date Planned

Judge Radcliff announced Thursday that the trial of Diltz and George Clifton, 25, Route 2, Circleville, had been tentatively set for Feb. 24 on a joint indictment charging them with the $1,300 burglary of the American Legion, but that that trial date has been cancelled and a new date has not been set.

Feb. 19 has been selected, Judge Radcliff said, as the date for beginning the trial of Clifton on an indictment charging him with the $300 robbery of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and that James Jordan, 30, will be placed on trial Feb. 24 under an indictment charging him with the burglary of the James D. Butts general store at Fox several months ago.

Several weeks ago the grand jury returned several indictments against Diltz and Clifton charging burglary and grand larceny.

The seven women on the jury during the first trial of Diltz last week are: Mrs. Annabelle Mowery, Mrs. Cleo Hines, Miss Mildred Wertman, Mrs. Bernice Rawlinson, Mrs. Myrtle Hinton, Mrs. Art James and Mrs. Blanche Puckett. The jury foreman was Chester Wolf.

County Courts

OHIO COMMISSION SUE

Participation in the state insurance fund is asked by Mrs. Frieda Hoffman, 119 East Mill street, in a suit filed in Pickaway county common pleas court, Thursday, against the Container Corporation of America. In the petition Mrs. Hoffman says that on Aug. 21, 1937 her husband, William H. Hoffman, while employed in the Container factory, was struck in his ribs and that the injuries resulted in his death on March 4, 1943. Mrs. Hoffman says the Industrial Commission of Ohio rejected her claim, she filed application for re-hearing, and that the claim again was denied Feb. 3, 1947.

SEEKS INSURANCE

Mrs. Margaret Wilson, 121 York street, filed suit in Pickaway county common pleas court, Thursday, against the Industrial Commission of Ohio, asking the court to order her participation in the state insurance fund. While employed at the American hotel, Mrs. Wilson says in her petition, she suffered back injuries when a dresser fell on her Dec. 22, 1944. Declaring that the Industrial Commission denied her claim Mrs. Wilson says she applied for a re-hearing and that on Feb. 3, 1947 her claim was again rejected.

JUDGMENT ASKED

Seeking judgment for $134.70 claimed due on a promissory note, W. G. Davis filed suit Thursday in Pickaway county common pleas court naming as defendants Ray S. Blackburn and Mabel Blackburn. His petition says the note was dated Feb. 24, 1940 and Davis asks to be awarded judgment for $134.70 plus interest at 8 per cent per annum from Feb. 24, 1941.

would look into the combining of the jobs of dean of agriculture at Ohio State University with the directorship of the agricultural experiment station at Wooster. The jobs have just been given to L. L. Rummel.

Meanwhile, Ferguson continued to hold up Bath's pay. The auditor contended that the $800 added to Bath's $8,800 base salary was obtained by subterfuge in calling Bath a "special assistant."

The law exempts the director, the assistant director and the state fair manager from the 10 per cent legislative increase.

A bill now before both houses of the legislature, said by both its sponsors to be "a Herbert measure," would establish Bath's job by law for a definite six-year term, although the director himself serves at the pleasure of the governor.

The bill was introduced in the house by Rep. Elton Kile (R-Madison) and in the senate by Sen. Joseph Nutt (R-Cleveland).

The bill also would give six-year terms to the chiefs of the divisions of animal industry, plant industry, foods and dairies and markets. Their salaries would be fixed by the director and the board of agriculture "commensurate with their training, experience and ability"—in other words, the director would be given a blank check.

The board itself would be increased from 10 to 12 members, and they would be paid $20 a day for attending as many meetings as the director would call. Now they receive their expenses only.

Deaths and Funerals

Charles Levi Smith, 69, died at 8:30 a. m. Thursday in his home at 477 Half avenue. He had lived there only 15 days and previously for 19 years farmed the Lewis farm in Pickaway township, two miles west of Gold Cliff park. Mr. Smith suffered a stroke July 22, 1946, followed by several others, the last striking him Wednesday night.

He was born in Pike county, the son of Lafayette Smith and Nancy Rose Smith.

Mr. Smith is survived by his widow, Mrs. Martha Mossbarger Smith; four daughters, Mrs. Opal Cain, 151 East Mill street; Mrs. Gail Linton, Route 2, Circleville; and Miss Martha Smith, Madison Mills; Weldon Smith, Route 2, Stoutsville; and Carl Smith, 105 Northridge road; four sisters, Mrs. Cora Delay, Route 1, Piketon; Mrs. Mary Mossbarger, Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Lillie Vannoy, Columbus; and Mrs. Nellie Mossbarger, Route 1, Piketon; four brothers, Dow Smith, Mt. Sterling, RFD; Andrew Smith, Route 2, Circleville; George Smith, Route 1, Delaware; and Guy Smith, Mechanicsburg; and 16 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The body was removed to the Defenbaugh funeral home and will later be removed to the residence. Time of the funeral is undetermined but services will be held in the Pilgrim Holiness church with the Rev. Alonzo Hill officiating, and burial will be in Forest cemetery.

MARY ALICE WAITE

Mary Alice Waite, 64, Columbus, died at 7:20 a. m. Thursday in Kingston after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage. A former resident of Kingston, Miss Waite was visiting a niece, Mrs. Harvey Large, when she was stricken. She had been a resident of Columbus for about 25 years.

Born in Pickaway county Dec. 16, 1882, Miss Waite was the daughter of John J. and Margaret Jadwin Waite. She was a member of the Kingston Methodist church.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Ida Jack, Columbus, Mrs. Minnie Morris, Kingston, Mrs. Jeanette Holzman, Columbus, and one brother, Pearl R. Waite. The body was removed to the L. E. Hill funeral home in Kingston pending arrangements.

WILLIAM TRENT

William Trent, 78, of Maplewood avenue, died at 7 a. m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. M. H. Johnson at 422 South Pick-away street. Mr. Trent was found 10 days ago in his home, helpless and suffering from exposure, and was later given shelter in the Johnson home.

Mr. Trent was born May 21, 1868 in Virginia, the son of James Trent and Mary Trent. His wife, Isabelle Trent, died in 1935.

He is survived by a niece, Mrs. Ertha Gillespie, Springfield; and a nephew, Lester Harris, East Mill street.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a. m. Saturday at the Second Baptist church with the Rev. Harold Wingo officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery under direction of the Defenbaugh funeral home. The body will be removed to the church at 10 a. m. Saturday.

STAND back — take it all in — and make sure you don't miss a thing.

For what we've pictured for you here is the whole Highway Hit Parade of 1947 — wrapped up in one glamorous bundle.

Those long, flowing, follow-through fenders — there's a style note you'll see echoed in automotive fashions for a long time to come.

That generous beam amidships — there's the drivingroom you've been seeking, with legroom, headroom, elbowroom all around.

That broad deep bonnet spells power aplenty — eager, lively Fireball power from an engine that seems to stay forever young.

That hug-the-road look means steadiness; coil springs on all four wheels spell matchless, floating ride; wide-swinging doors open on interiors both handy and handsome in arrangement.

In a word — here's a car squarely on target, whether you go for style or size, performance or value. Here's America's most wanted car — and easily America's most sought-after buy.

So why let the crowd get ahead of you? Why wait—when waiting can only postpone delivery, not hasten it.

Just remember that faint heart ne'er won a fair car like this — and get your order in!

COMMITTEE TO ACT WEDNESDAY ON MERGER BILL

Opponents To Conservation Unification Express Fear Of Politics

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 13—The senate conservation committee promised today to act next Wednesday on the proposed unified conservation bill after sportsmen's and soil conservation groups expressed skepticism of the measure's political implications.

At the first meeting for opponents of the bill—two previous meetings have been devoted to proponents—sportsmen and soil conservationists expressed endorsement of the principle of unification—but asked that their groups be left out of it.

Ralph W. Sanborn, Columbus attorney representing the League of Ohio Sportsmen, declared that the present "conservation department" actually is a wild-life division supported entirely by $1,600,000 annually in fish and game license revenues.

Therefore, he said, sportsmen were entitled to "special consideration," which the bill "in its present form" does not give them. He declared:

"In 1939, after 40 years, the commission was taken out of politics. The present eight-man commission, with each member serving an eight-year term, accomplishes that and also gives us continuity of program."

Clay H. Stackhouse, Wake-man, Huron county, speaking for the Ohio federation of Soil Conservation supervisors, declared that their projects, because of their educational nature, should remain under the supervision of the agricultural college of Ohio State University rather than be placed in the proposed lands division of the over-all conservation department. He told the committee:

"We're fearful of the political side of this bill. We don't want more state money, because it would destroy our initiative back home."

Pointing out that 57 soil conservation districts have been formed in the state and eight more are being activated since the program was authorized a few years ago, Stackhouse presented a resolution of his organization that requested it "be tampered with as little as possible."

"Land," he added, "is our one renewable resource."

R. Hoscy Wick, Jackson hotel operator and president of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, contended that "the bill as written does not protect the interest of the sportsman."

He presented petitions bearing the signatures of some 2,000 northeastern Ohio sportsmen expressing "strenuous" opposition to the bill. He stated:

"We don't want our commission, or any commission, to have its interest divided among six other divisions."

"There is nothing in this bill to guarantee even that sportsmen will be represented on the new commission. You might even appoint eight college professors."

After a roar of laughter subsided, Wick explained he meant no reflection on professors, "but they just might not have our interests at heart."

Henry J. Linton, another Columbus attorney representing the Central Ohio Anglers and Hunters Club, said his group was "jealous of the progress made by the present conservation commission and views with alarm any attempt to alter that program."

R. A. Lindemann, Delphos, speaking for the "Old Time Coon Hunters' Club's" 3,800 members, asserted "we don't want to see the continuity of program of our present set-up disturbed."

DIVORCE ANTIDOTE
MARRIAGE should be viewed as an opportunity to know and love another person, and as a job of sharing responsibility. This was the theme of the first lecture by Dr. Mary Fisher Langmuir, Vassar College before 150 men and women students at Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y., who are enrolled in a marriage course. Most of the 36 veterans attending the college were in the audience. Other speakers will later discuss biological and physical aspects of marriage, the profession of parenthood and vocations as well as avocations for husbands and wives.
This looks like an intelligent and dignified way to meet the growing marital tangles that are engulfing the nation's young people, particularly veterans. Crowded housing conditions make adjustment hard.
Often these young men, and women, too, are attempting to finish college courses. Studying in close quarters, interrupted by the presence of babies and under the limitation of government allowances, makes heavy strain on harmonious marriage. Courses like this at the Bronxville college will give them a perspective and an objective approach to their problems.
They will find that many other people are in similar situations during early years of marriage, and they will learn how some of these are working their way into sound and permanent marriages. They may be surprised to find that many marriages among their elders which now look as if there had never been a rift in them, had hard going in the first years, but that with affection and determination to do what was right and kind, husbands and wives made their marriages go. In most cases it can be done. Such courses help to explain how to do it.

HANDICAP OF HISTORIANS
HOW NEAR should a historian be to the times he describes. At least 15 years away, says the veteran Charles A. Beard. It will take him that long to get over his prejudices and write as a historian rather than a partisan commentator.
There is another argument for delay. Much material is not immediately available. Could anyone write of the British part in the war without seeing Churchill's memoirs, which have not yet been published. The diary of Gideon Welles, secretary of the navy under Lincoln and Johnson, did not come out till nearly 50 years later, it throws much new light on its times, and is one chief cause for the recent higher estimation of Johnson.
For both these reasons it has been suggested that the only prominent American historian today who can look forward to is the 30-year-old Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr., author of "The Age of Jackson".
Persons who talk too much should consider the Statue of Liberty. It shows Liberty enlightening the world in perfect silence.

STARS SAY—
For Thursday, February 13 ENDURING and lasting security of solid and worthy efforts, built upon stable foundations and well-established premises, should give encouragement to the aims and well-ordered procedures of this day. Working for the future, with studied consideration and shrewd analysis of lasting values rather than purely passing objectives. Elders, old friends or relations are likely to show appreciation for past favors.
Those whose birthday it is are given much encouragement to work for lasting and long-range results rather than for passing or fleeting purposes or ends. Hard work, based on shrewd insight, solid values and a keen sense of duty and obligation should reap rich rewards for such meritorious programs. Elders and relatives might confer favors for consideration. Sound investments should flourish.

ASSIGNMENT: AMERICA
By Kenneth L. Dixon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—Not long ago, General Omar Bradley spoke sadly about the much-talked-of threat that the new economy-minded congress would chop large chunks out of the veterans administration program.
In addition to being one member of the wartime star-bearing brethren who can really claim to have been beloved by some of the most brass-hating G. I.'s, General Bradley is boss of the veterans administration.
Thus, a lot of people thought he merely was indulging in some early-bird lobbying for his own organization.
They couldn't be farther from the truth. As usual, Omar merely was giving the boys an honest briefing on the type of tough resistance they were likely to meet in the new legislative session.
For there is a definite and easily-distinguished movement underfoot on capitol hill today to ridicule the veteran as a "something for nothing" slacker, in order to slice the V. A. appropriations wherever possible and provide federal cash for more popular projects.
Understand, it isn't the congressmen themselves who are doing it. They merely are the victims of a lot of daily, high-powered lobbying aimed in that direction.
Reprints of several nationally-published articles ridiculing the "52-20 Club" suddenly have cropped up on capitol hill. If they merely stuck to the truth—that quite a lot of veterans have loafed a year on their $20 a week compensation—it still would be a matter of honest curiosity as to why they're cropping up now. Unfortunately, they haven't even stuck to the truth.
One of the articles most popularly passed around on the hill nowadays first appeared in a nationally-known ladies magazine. Then it was reprinted in a famous digest magazine. Apparently, neither the author nor the editors of either magazine bothered to check the truth of so-called facts it presented about the "52-20" club.
For at one place in his piece, the writer says that three million veterans are "now taking benefits". Subsequently, he implies that they are getting their $20-a-week for a full year.
The truth, easily available at the veterans administration, through unquestioned records, is this: never has there been even two million men on the 52-20 rolls at one time. Currently, the total is—and usually is—far below one million. Actually, only about 50,000 veterans yet have drawn their $20 a week for the full 52 weeks. That is about one-half of one percent of all the men and women who served their country in uniform.
The truth goes further than that. The average unemployed veteran—discounting those who came back to jobs which were waiting on their discharge—only collected the twenty bucks for eight to ten weeks. And that figure largely involves those kids who went into the service directly from school and had no idea what kind or type of work to look for when they got out!
I'd like to meet the gent who wrote that article. I'd also like to talk with the man who presumed on his war time service in air corps public relations to charge—in another national magazine story now widely circulated on the hill—that even amputee veterans are chiselers. In his imperishable piece of prose, he said that the bill which gave automobiles to some 16,000 veterans who lost arms and legs during the war "was high-pressured through congress in a fashion which may be a prelude to what is to come. Armless and legless vets were corralled at the Walter Reed hospital for a demonstration staged by the bill's sponsor (Continued on Page Ten)

FIREWORKS ALL AROUND
WHEN FOUR experts are battling each other and one of them makes a pre-emptive suit bid of three, you are likely to see fireworks also from all other points of the compass. If there is anything a fine player hates to have happen to him, it is to get shut out of the bidding, when he thinks there is a good chance his side has the balance of power. Perhaps that is one of the weaknesses of the best performers—a very human weakness. Or perhaps it is one of their greatest strong points.

As they might say in racing, East and West "made every post a winning post." Despite North's effort to shut them out of the bidding, or at least crowd them into an incorrect contract, they would have been successful in taking the necessary tricks for every bid they made. East's 3-No Trumps would have produced an unbid grand slam unless a diamond got led. If he played properly. And the 5-Hearts got made plus an extra trick after North led a spade. The unthinkable diamond led is all that could have held it to exactly contract.
Notice that it would have paid North and South to bid spades once more, at the level of five. That could have been set only three tricks, with two in spades, one in hearts, one each in the minors. The 500 point cost would have been appreciably less than the value of the adverse vulnerable game. Of course the strong side might then have tried 6-Hearts, though it is not likely. And, as before indicated, only the improbable diamond lead could have headed off the making of the slam.

DIET AND HEALTH
When Feet Are All Tired Out

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
FEET were made to be used, but just how many people do find their adequate to support them through one full day's activities without pain and discomfort? Some do, of course, but their numbers are few compared to the vast majority who are "all-in" after a few hours of standing or walking and this is solely because their feet have "given out."
Thousands of otherwise healthy people find themselves partially incapacitated for either work or play by painful aching feet. And yet, the following of a few simple rules might be enough to prevent this sort of thing. Of course, where there are serious foot disorders, such as flat feet, relief is not so easily obtained and in many cases it may be necessary to consult a doctor before anything helpful can be done. Even so, however, the proper shoe plus the right exercise go a long way toward relieving the discomfort of flat feet.
Few Simple Rules
Where the feet are normal, attention to a few simple rules will keep them so. They are:
First, wash the feet frequently, bathe them at least once a day, dry them thoroughly and use a foot powder, made of talc and boric acid, afterward. Any simple powder will do.
Second, it is a good plan to have at least two pairs of shoes so that it is not necessary to wear the same pair of shoes two days in a row. This will give the shoes a chance to dry. It is a good plan, too, to change the stockings once a day.
Third, take care in trimming the toenails. The nails should be cut straight across. Otherwise, ingrown nails may develop.
Shoes That Fit
Fourth, be sure the shoes fit properly. For walking and exercise get shoes that support the feet. There is no harm in the wearing of high heeled shoes by women, but wearing them too frequently might lead to foot troubles.
Fifth, exercise the feet regularly. Wiggling the toes, walking on the toes, walking on first one side of the foot and then the other all will help to keep the foot muscles limber and active.
Sixth, keep the feet dry. If the feet should get wet remove the shoes and stockings, dry the feet and put on dry shoes and stockings.
Walk Correctly
Seventh, walk in the right way with the toes pointed straight ahead and not outward. This throws the weight on the strongest part of the feet.
Eighth, don't neglect the child's feet. Examine them frequently to make sure that there are no red spots, blisters, corns and similar disorders present.
Ninth, if these mild conditions develop do not hesitate to consult a chiropodist. For more serious foot troubles the orthopedic specialist should be consulted.
It is neither necessary nor wise for anyone to put up with foot disorders. They are easily prevented and quickly alleviated in most cases.

25 FARMS IN CITY
CHICAGO—Probably most of the "city slickers" don't know it, but the County farm bureau says there are 25 farms right in Chicago. Mostly they're truck farms, but there also are 200 cows, 150 pigs and 15,000 chickens within the city limits.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE
MOROSELY Cliff went back to his own office to hold council with Casey. The big construction boss was working with Janet on the control map, and they both looked up in sympathetic understanding as Cliff threw himself wearily into his chair.
"We've got to get us another supply foreman," Cliff said. "The question is, who?"
They named and discarded a half dozen men, but none seemed to fit the job, and in the baffled silence that followed, Janet asked, "What about Wade Carroll?"
Cliff shook his head. "No, he wouldn't." He sat for a moment in thought, then walked twice about the office. "Why not?" he said at last. "Maybe he's just the man." He turned to Janet. "I think you've got something. Better drop that map and come along with me. I'm not sure he'll be easy to persuade."
They found the hunter and his ward just back from a trip upriver. Lilli showed frank delight in seeing Cliff again, and Wade himself was eager to consult with him and Janet about a school catalogue that had arrived from the States. "Gettin' time to send Lilli somewhere," Wade explained, "and I'm still all up in the air about her education. She don't take the proper interest in it." Wade's eyes rested for a moment on Cliff's face. "But I don't guess it was about Lilli's schoolin' you all come to see me."
"No, it wasn't," Cliff admitted. "My supply foreman cracked two ribs this morning, and Pablo is flying him down to the coast. Casey has his hands full with construction work, and I'm wondering if you'd take the job. You know this country better than any other man, and I want to make you a foreman. You could still run your line of traps, and you'd be a big help."
Wade shook his head. "I like you, Mr. Bogard," he said. "And I'd like workin' for you, but I can't afford takin' sides. You remember how the Blacklanders feel about you and the plantations. If trouble started, I'd be right in the middle of it."
"You wouldn't have anything to do with the plantations," Cliff replied. "Your job would be helping get supplies."
Again Wade shook his head. "I'd be known to be workin' for you, and it just ain't safe."
"You mean there's likely to be trouble with the Blacklanders?" Wade looked noncommittal. "Cliff rose—he had wasted his time."
But as he turned to go, Janet spoke. "Wade," she said, "if you came up to camp as supply foreman, Mr. Bogard and I could coach Lilli so she'd be better prepared for school. It would be almost as good as school itself."
The hunter's face changed, and Cliff heard Lilli's ecstatic, "Oh, I'd love that!"
Wade's eyes fixed his ward. "Seems to me you're takin' to learnin' kinda sudden."
Lilli ran toward him. "But I'd really study—honest I would."
Wade pulled out the huge blue handkerchief—sure sign of mental turmoil—and mopped his bald head through a long, expectant minute, then accepting defeat, he sighed. "Well I guess I'm your new foreman, Mr. Bogard."
So Wade left his menagerie in care of the two Indian boys and moved himself and Lilli up to the rubber headquarters. Casey regarded the addition dubiously. "Another woman in camp," he announced to no one in particular. "I better cable for me evenin' clothes."
But the addition of another woman wasn't all. Lilli begged to bring Plato, and Cliff half-heartedly protested. "All we need is a jaguar to turn this place into a first-class madhouse," he grumbled, but in the end he consented, and to the consternation of every dog in camp, Plato's cage was set up beside the Carrolls' shack. Lilli's slant eyes were happy again. Casey made one—and only one—attempts to win the affection of the pet jaguar. "Lilli says that cat's just playful," he confided to Cliff later, "but I never did find the seat of me trousers."
Janet tried faithfully to keep her promise about Lilli's education, but she soon saw that the girl had no real interest in studies. It was only when Cliff undertook the role of tutor that Lilli astonishingly awoke from her profound indifference to algebra and Latin verbs. Meanwhile, she seemed content to play with her pet jaguar, help Wade on the trap lines, and in the evening swim in the river below the docks.
Sometimes Janet joined her on those swims, but always upon her own initiative—Lilli never invited her. For that matter, Lilli never asked Janet to share any of her activities. She was never lonely, for she had always herself, or Plato, or the jungle, and the one person she gave any evidence of pleasure in seeing was Cliff. Janet she could take or leave—and if she had any preference, it was to leave—so after Lilli had thwarted all Janet's attempts to coach her, the two girls were together only for that short hour just after dusk had fallen, when they went down to the river.
It was the day's most perfect hour for a swim. The men had finished work and were up in the shacks, and usually the first breath of air was beginning to stir, so that the water itself, although tepid, felt cool and refreshing after the heat of the long afternoon. For the first two or three swims, Janet wore an improvised bathing suit, but she soon discarded it to follow Lilli's example and feel the thrill of water on her naked skin, and the ease and freedom of movement that came from total absence of clothes.
After the swim, if there was work to be done—and usually there was—Janet would join Cliff in the office, spread out the big control maps, and transfer the field notes that the construction crews had brought in that day.
But one night soon after the arrival of the Carrolls, she was late in arriving Cliff, with a pile of papers before him, sat checking a column of figures, and twice looked over at Janet's empty chair, then at last, throwing down his pencil, he stood up. It was hot, humid and breathless outside—deadly hot within the little office—and even at eight o'clock there had come no break in the long, torrid heat of the day.
Driven by restlessness that made physical motion a necessity, he wandered about the room, eyes avoiding his desk piled high with unfinished work. He didn't want to work. Once he stopped before the door. The jungle itself was restless and vocal; a full moon shone down over the palms, and bats were fluttering endlessly back and forth across the path of moonlight. The roar of the rapids seemed to pulsate in the hot, still air, swelling to a hollow crescendo, then dying away.
Everywhere, within him and about him, a sense of expectancy and of vague excitement. He stepped outside. The moonlight was so bright he could see the orchids in the trees above him, and with the thought that it might be cooler down by the river, he followed the path to the dock.
Halfway out along the wharf he saw a little heap of gleaming white, and walking toward it, he leaned forward—it was Lilli's white cotton dress. For an instant he felt his heart quicken with alarm, and straightening, peered anxiously over the unbroken surface of the river. Then, from just beneath his feet, and so close it startled him, a tranquil voice said, "Hello."
He knelt down. There in the dim obscurity of the wharf, he discovered Lilli, both hands holding to a wooden pile. Her face, almost lost in shadow, was smiling up at him, and once again she said, "Hello."
In sudden relief Cliff seated himself on the edge of the dock. "You gave me a fine scare, leaving your dress up here. Isn't it pretty late for you to be swimming?"
"It was so hot," she explained. "Some night an alligator is going to take your toe home for a souvenir."
He heard her low laugh through the darkness, the quietly contented laugh she always had when she was with him. "Uncle Wade says that's all bunk about alligators." She tossed back her wet hair. "When are you going to teach me another algebra lesson?"
"Things are pretty hectic these days, Lilli."
"I'm getting way behind in my studying."
Smiling, he lighted a cigarette. "How that must annoy you!"
"But I never see you." The voice was clearly resentful, and Cliff felt a twinge of guilt—it was true; he hadn't seen much of her lately.
"I'll tell you what," he said. "I've been thinking of taking you with me to some of the river villages. I'll need a lot more rubber garters, and maybe you can tell me where to find them."
She gave a low cry of pleasure. "Oh, that would be grand. We could paddle up as far as the rapids, then—"
But Cliff wasn't listening. Just beyond the edge of the wharf he saw a white arm and shoulder rise above the surface of the water, moving quietly and effortlessly toward them, leaving a ripple of silver that shimmered beneath the moonlight, and as the swimmer came nearer, Cliff recognized Janet's hair, streaming out behind her.

Today's Horoscope
If this is the anniversary of your birth, you have a happy and exuberant disposition and consideration for the rights of others. You like refinement and culture, have good taste, are fond of good literature, and are ambitious to learn. In your love affairs you do not like to stick to one person, but after marriage you will be very happy and contented. Success will be achieved by you in various ways, the more so if the unbounded energies now manifest are usefully employed in business expansion rather than doubtful pleasures and speculation. The influences for the day are doubtful, however. Things can be done with ease and efficiency during the daytime, but the evening indicates pettiness, unreliable talk, news or suspicion. Generous, kind-hearted, idealistic, independent, enthusiastic and ambitious will be the child born today, but liable to monetary loss through litigation and speculation.

Mrs. Watt Organizes Garden Clubs In Franklin County

Mrs. Donald H. Watt, North Court street, regional director, district 9, organized the Ohio association of Garden Clubs in Franklin county, Tuesday at a 6 o'clock dinner, held in the Southern hotel, Columbus. Delegates from the 28 clubs were present. Mrs. C. F. Neiswender, Grove City, was elected Franklin county contact chairman. Mrs. LeRoy Tucker, president of the Upper Arlington garden club, will serve as assistant contact chairman.

Franklin county association of garden clubs has set March 31 for a meeting in the Southern hotel at 6 p. m. Four new Franklin county clubs joined the Ohio association during the February 11 meeting.

Good Samaritan Class Has Meeting

Twenty-five members were present, Tuesday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Dunkle, East Walnut street, entertained the Good Samaritan class of Nazarene church.

Meeting opened as the group joined in singing, "Showers of Blessing" and prayer was led by the Rev. Roy Wolford. Each member responded to roll call by repeating a favorite Bible verse. Singing "Tis so Sweet to Trust in Jesus" and a prayer by Mrs. Baldwin Anderson concluded the devotional period.

The Rev. Mr. Wolford made several announcements and appointed a visitation committee, which includes Mrs. Loring Allen and Mrs. George Trego.

The class voted to sponsor a sunrise Easter service. On this committee are Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Roy Wolford and Charles Mumaw. A discussion of purchasing chimes for the church was held by the class.

Games contests and a Valentine box, furnished entertainment during the social hours. Refreshments were served by the host and hostess.

SKATE PARTY FRIDAY

Saturday Skating Club will have a party Friday from 7:30 to 11:30 p. m. in Roll and Bowl. Miss Rosemary McBee, outstanding skater from Columbus, will provide part of the entertainment. Refreshments will be served. Miss Betty Goodman, club president, and the management of Roll and Bowl will be hosts for the party.

MISS BEAVERS IS SPEAKER AT CIRCLE MEETING

Circle 3, Woman's Society of Christian Service, First Methodist church members, gathered in the home of Mrs. Roy Beaty, North Court street, Wednesday evening for their regular session.

Mrs. Charles Rader, chairman, opened the meeting by reading "The Gettysburg Address". Miss Alice Wilson was in charge of the devotional period and led the members in prayer.

Miss Letha Beavers was guest speaker. She told of her recent trip to California. Miss Beavers gave a description of the many churches she visited while there, and told of the country through which she traveled.

During the social hours the circle held an auction. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. C. Carley and Mrs. Clarence Thorne served refreshments. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Raymond Rader, North Pickaway street. Mrs. C. L. Thomas, Mrs. Harold Ullom and Mrs. Nelson Reid will be assisting hostesses.

Mary Jane Watt Is Honored Guest At Birthday Party

Mary Jane Watt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Watt, was honor guest Wednesday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 6 at a party given by her parents, in celebration of her eleventh birthday anniversary. Fifteen guests attended the social affair, held in the Watt residence on North Court street. Games were enjoyed by the young guests during the social hours.

Barbara Schumm, classmate,

Mrs. Sam Morris Hostess To Circle

Circle 7 Members Meet At Heine Home

Mrs. Walter F. Heine was assisted by Mrs. Joseph Rooney, in extending hospitality for the meeting of circle 7, Woman's Society of Christian Service, First Methodist church, Wednesday evening, at the Heine residence on East Mound street.

Mrs. Roloff Wolford conducted the business meeting, and received reports of the secretary, treasurer and ways and means committee. She discussed plans for the members to assist at dinners to be given at the church by W S C S members. A special invitation was extended to all new members of the circle to be present at the next general meeting to be held March 6 in the First Methodist church.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Virgil Cress. She presented the Scripture lesson and prayer. Mrs. Cress read a primer on "Racial Prejudices". Mrs. A. V. Couch, program chairman, presented "Children of One World". She then gave a very interesting review of the book, "Black Boy". Mrs. Wolford conducted two contests. Both were won by Mrs. O. C. King. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening's session by the hostess and assisting hostess.

PLAN MONDAY MEETING

Home and School association of Washington township will meet in the school building, Monday at 7:30 p. m. Pupils of the lower grades will present a program during the evening. Each member is requested to bring a cherry pie (or any other kind) to be used in the refreshments served at this meeting.

BRITON SEEKS TO FIND SECRET OF COSMIC RAYS

Physicist Would Unlock Ray More Potent Than That Of Atom Bomb

LONDON, Feb. 13—One of the most curious jobs in the world today belongs to a 32-year-old British physicist, Dr. E. Paul George. He descends every day to a 12-foot square subterranean hole in the ground, 100 feet under the heart of London, where he 'talks' with cosmic rays.

His equipment is a small box, about the size of a portable radio, and a string of queer-looking tubes. Lean, gangling Dr. George and the cosmic rays have a language all their own. The small box records the cosmic rays and he takes readings. His "cave" is at the bottom of the shaft of Holborn Underground Station—the deepest subway shaft in London.

The little box and the tubes translate their utterances into abstract jiggles on a chart. And each fresh marking brings Dr. George a step nearer to his buried treasure.

Bombarding Each of Us These cosmic particles from interstellar space are bombarding each one of us at the rate of 72,000 an hour. They pass right through our bodies, but science has not yet fathomed what effect they have on us.

There are some scientists who believe that they are the key to life itself.

Dr. George is a ponderous 6 ft. 8 inches, and while it gives him an advantage above ground, it can be quite trying in his earthly cell below. Pleasantly informal, his broad forehead crowned with a shock of curly brown hair, Dr. George has become a familiar figure in battered raincoat and Paisley scarf as he makes his daily trip between laboratory and subway cavern.

To gain more knowledge, Dr. George is leading an expedition to Switzerland this summer. He will carry his equipment to the top of the Jungfrau where he can "talk" with cosmic rays at high altitude.

Although it is certain that one cosmic ray is worth 100,000 atomic units, cosmic power is still one of the greatest scientific mysteries.

Clocks Rays In his subterranean chamber, Dr. George clocks the rays as they bombard the earth. His frequency chart tells him that the rays which pass through the human body—without hurting it—at 12:02 p. m. are 3,000 feet down through the earth's crust at 12:03 p. m.

Experiments to unleash the energy from cosmic rays are being pursued relentlessly by leading scientists on both sides of the Atlantic. In America, Dr. Guy Suits leads a team of research experts in the General Electric laboratory at Schenectady, N. Y. During the war, in conjunction with British scientists, they built a monster machine called the "Betatron", whose 100 million volts churn electrons in a doughnut shaped glass tube to terrific velocities.

Smash A New Element With these machines, scientists have been able for the first time to smash a new element out of matter—the meson. Part of the fabric of cosmic energy, mesons are the intermediate link between electrons and protons. For the first time, too, the "Betatron" has enabled scientists to produce artificial cosmic rays where previously they had to be captured from space.

The secret of the cosmic ray is still locked within the bounds of interstellar space. But, in a world that is more research-conscious today than ever before, it is being pried loose by American and British scientists and engineers. They showed the way when they released atomic power. Now, their machines are grappling with the most abundant and penetrating force conceivable.

On rural routes everywhere in America, on snowy highways of the north, on sunny by-ways of the south, live the 5,500,000 ranch and farm families who produce America's supply of food. It's a big supply, too, the greatest in the world. From your farms and ranches in 1946 came livestock, dairy and poultry products and crops to the value of about twenty-three billion dollars, according to latest available government estimates. Meat animals and dairy and poultry products accounted for about 60 percent of the total farm cash income, current estimates reveal. Agriculture, the nation's most essential industry, is "big business" in every sense of the phrase.

Of all your cash income last year, $981,660,783* came from Swift & Company in payments for livestock and other agricultural raw materials. We purchased your livestock and other products and converted them into millions of pounds of quality meats, valuable by-products, other foods and products. Part of the money you received

Soda Bill Sox: ... what's wrong with people is not their ignorance, but the number of things they know that aren't so.

For People ... By People

We at Swift & Company think of our business as being owned by 63,365 people, the shareholders and their families, and operated by 66,000 employees. We provide essential services for agricultural producers and many other large groups of people. Employment is created for other thousands who work for railroads, trucking firms, livestock commission houses, stockyards companies, and the suppliers who furnish us salt, sugar, boxes, barrels, machinery and a thousand-and-one other things. A part of the business of thousands upon thousands of retailers everywhere in the nation is in purveying Swift's quality meats and other products to millions of American families.

In return for all the effort that made these services possible, the folks who work for Swift earned $164,013,099 in wages and salaries in 1946. This sum is 88% of the total remaining after all bills except taxes were paid, and is ten times more than the company's total net profit.

FEED VALUES ARE SOIL VALUES
by Wm. A. Albrecht
University of Missouri

Wm. A. Albrecht Recently a farmer friend of mine told me, "I've moved to another farm where I get bigger yields in all my feed crops. But even though I shovel much more corn and pitch a lot more hay, I can't get my calves to market as early. I'm just not growing as much meat per acre."

This man doesn't realize that feed bulk is no indication of feed value. Livestock will not gain more on larger rations unless the feed value of any crop is derived from the basic plant food elements found in the soil. The crop must first build up the woody structure that makes up its bulk. Then, if soil conditions are right, the plant will store up a supply of the raw materials of protein, vitamins, and mineral compounds. Thus, whether a crop offers anything more than bulk and fattening power depends on the condition of the soil on which it grew. Livestock may be fed great quantities of feedstuffs produced on poor soils and still fail to gain weight. It is soil that has been guarded against erosion, fertilized properly, and carefully managed, that grows nutritious crops. Such soil will produce crops that give better feeding results and make more meat per acre.

Returns for Savings. It is not the investment of a few rich people that has built Swift & Company, but the pooled savings of 63,365 people. Among them you'll find farmers, ranchers, lawyers, doctors, mechanics, business people—folks from every walk of life... including 29,941 women.

The savings these shareholders have invested in Swift & Company provide the plants and facilities—the tools with which we handle your products. The return for their thriftiness comes to them as dividends paid out of the company's profit. In 1946 that dividend amounted to $1.90 a share.

"WHERE DID THAT $1,308,364,155 GO?"

During 1946 Swift & Company received $1,308,364,155 from the sale of its products and by-products. By the end of the year the Company had earned a net profit of $16,394,739, which is slightly less than 1.3¢ on each dollar of sales.

What happened to the rest of that money?

Well, the largest part was paid to farmers and ranchers who sold us livestock and other agricultural products. They got $981,660,783* or 75¢ out of the average sales dollar we received for products sold, including all by-products such as hides, wool, soybean meal, etc.

The next largest portion of our sales dollar went to all Swift employees.

Their share of the dollar was 12.6¢. Fuel barrels boxes paper salt sugar and other supplies took 4.8¢ out of the average dollar.

Transportation took 2¢. (Meat travels, on the average, over 1,000 miles from producer to consumer.)

Taxes took another 1¢. All other expenses, including depreciation, interest and miscellaneous business costs, amounted to 3.3¢.

All these costs taken out of the sales dollar left 1.3¢. This was Swift & Company's net profit in 1946—a profit of only ¼ of 1¢ on each pound of the millions of pounds of products and by-products handled.

BIG PETROLEUM SUPPLY FOUND IN ALASKA AREA

Navy Reveals Exploration For Oil May Bring In Millions Of Barrels

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—Navy officials revealed today that current exploration for oil in Alaska ultimately may bring in 300 to 500 million barrels of petroleum.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal has prohibited release of detailed information on oil drilling operations and exploratory projects underway in the frozen polar regions.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, famed British explorer and polar expert, previously was revealed to be carrying out an undisclosed mission in Alaska with headquarters at naval petroleum reserve number four.

An official of naval petroleum reserves stated:

"Ultimately, we hope to get three to 500 million barrels from the reserve. An average new field in the United States today has an ultimate production of only two million barrels."

He said that "in addition, some of the coastal area between Nome and Point Barrow, Alaska, outside the reserve might be found productive" in oil.

Spokesmen said that they presumed that Russians also are conducting some exploration for oil in the polar regions. They said that no information on extent of Soviet projects is available in this country.

They asserted that the Navy's oil drilling operations in Alaska will continue unless congress withdraws funds.

An appropriation of $9,600,000 dollars has been made available for expenditures up to July 1, 1950.

Spokesmen said that if the exploration netted sufficient oil it might be advisable for the military to bring some of the petroleum from Alaska for storage.

Otherwise, it would be used to meet the local oil needs in Alaska. It was pointed out that this would mean a great deal to Alaskan development and progress.

SENATE VOTES TO REPEAL 513 OLD OHIO LAWS

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 13—The program of the Ohio code revision commission was half-way through the Ohio legislature today as the senate unanimously passed three bills repealing 513 obsolete sections of state law.

One bill repealed 300 sections, many of which had been declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. Another repealed 158 sections of old canal land laws, while the third repealed 55 sections of antiquated laws dealing with military affairs and historic grounds.

The house, by a 123-1 vote, passed the Simpson bill to permit appeals from the granting of motions for new trials.

Both houses held only skeleton sessions today before adjourning for the week-end.

Reps. Miller and Rose (R-Butler) introduced a resolution urging congress to assume full cost of maintaining the Miami conservancy district. The bill now goes to the senate.

Sen. George Shurtz (R-Newcomerstown) introduced a bill making it a misdemeanor to attempt to corrupt the purchasing agent of any private corporation, while Sen. William Tyrrell (R-Eaton) sponsored a measure to increase the membership of the Ohio judicial council from 14 to 15 by adding a juvenile judge.

1,153 HEAD OF STOCK ON SALE

Prices Higher At Pickaway Livestock Association Weekly Auction

Sales were heavier and prices were higher at the weekly auction, Wednesday, in the yards of the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association in Circleville. Livestock sales totaled 1,153 head Wednesday as compared with a total of 522 a week ago and 1,094 two weeks ago. This shows a gain in volume of more than 100 per cent over last week.

Prices of cattle and hogs were firm to a little higher Wednesday and calves, sheep and lambs brought higher prices.

Cattle receipts Wednesday totaled 316 head as against 97 last week and 225 the preceding week. Hog sales totaled 600 head as compared with 400 a week ago and 780 two weeks ago. Sales of calves Wednesday amounted to 111 head as compared with 25 last week and 89 the previous week. Sheep and lambs sales totaled 126 head as against light and untabulated sales a week ago and two weeks ago.

Following is the complete tabulation of Wednesday's sales:

CATTLE RECEIPTS—316 head—steers and heifers, good 23-26.80; steers and heifers, medium to good 18-23; 10-50-18; cows, common to good 15-19; cows, common to good 15-19; cows, common to good 15-19; HOGS RECEIPTS—600 head—good to choice, 160 lbs. to 260 lbs., 25; lights,

ASHVILLE

Eugene Newton was returned home Wednesday from Berger hospital where he has been receiving care for the past few days.

Mrs. Amy Cloud was hostess to Circle 1 of the W.S.C.S. at her home Monday evening when 20 guests were present. Mrs. Hattie Rife, Mrs. Frank Morrison, and Mrs. W. O. Dountz assisted with the entertainment.

Billy Eccard of the fourth grade is ill with rheumatic fever.

Page rank was conferred on a class of candidates at Palmetto Lodge Wednesday. Plans were made to confer the esquire rank at the next regular meeting.

Stacey McClurg, former Ashville high pupil, recently returned to work after a month's hospitalization as a result of burns suffered during an explosion and fire at the DuPont factory near Charleston, W. Va., where he is employed. Mr. McClurg suffered burns on his head and arms when he re-entered a burning building, from which he had been thrown by the explosion, to shut off compressors on which he worked.

It is reported that an Ashville industry will have a new owner within a few days and that some changes in ownership of village real estate are being contemplated.

Mayor Harry Litten has been ill the past two days and has been unable to be at work.

E. A. Standbury, Derby, was a business visitor in Ashville Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ryan, Chillicothe, visited with friends in Ashville Tuesday.

—there, they waylaid congressmen in the corridors and brandished their stumps and crutches in as undignified a whine for alms as the capital has witnessed.

Imagine such beggarly arrogance! Actually daring to ask—in undignified fashion, too—for some transportation assistance after only losing a leg or arm or two in serving their country!

Despite the sickening aspect of such stories, they have their effect today, regardless of the efforts of such men as General Bradley, American Legion Commander Paul Griffith, Amvets head Raymond Sawyer, A. V. C. leader Charles Bolte and others who point to the record when lobbying interests start ridiculing the veteran untruthfully.

All of those men give the lie to such stories. But still the lobbyists enlist everybody available—including a new lobbying outfit which purports (untruthfully) to be run by veterans—in their effort to sidetrack veterans' appropriations by trying to prove that yesterday's war hero merely is today's drain on the public purse.

Opinions expressed by the writer in the column are the views of the author and not necessarily those of the Circleville Herald.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13—There is probably no other medium of entertainment that has produced such a widespread mythology as radio.

Charlie McCarthy is a prime example. His quick witted splinter brain is the product of two people—the whittler who carved his classic features and his voice and alter ego Edgar Bergen. It is even difficult to believe after seeing goggle-eyed, grinning Charlie that his voice is coming from the barely moving lips of Mr. Bergen—and I do not consider myself one easily taken in.

Mr. District Attorney is as mythical as a flesh and blood Charlie. In the script, Mr. D. A. does not even own another name, except the chief, but many seek him out for legal aid of one sort or another. Ladies clubs ask him to speak.

Dr. Christian, the kindly medic, the last 10 years has acquired an identity which is more real to radio listeners than his own personality.

Despite the fact it is not necessary to identify the gentle doctor as actor Jean Hersholt, he has through the years in his radio role lost his reality in Dr. Christian.

Mr. Hersholt was born 60 years ago; Dr. Christian 10 years ago; but it is the personality of the wise, sympathetic, courageous medic of mythical River's End who is real in the minds of the sick, the well, the heart sore, even the members of the profession.

MANY PICKAWAY COUNTIANS WILL ATTEND 'WEEK'

Livestock Program Of Show At Ohio State Arranged; Speakers Named

Many Pickaway county livestock raisers are expected to attend the 1947 annual Farm and Home Week which is to be held for four days, March 18 to 21, at Columbus. Several Pickaway countians will take an active part in the program.

Ohio livestock producers will find their share of the Farm and Home Week program arranged in sections with Tuesday, March 18, devoted to sheep, Wednesday to swine, Thursday to beef cattle, and Friday to horses.

Tuesday's speakers are L. K. Bear, V. R. Cahill, L. E. Kunkle, and D. J. Kays, all from Ohio State University. D. S. Bell, Ohio Experiment Station, and J. L. Lacey, specialist in animal husbandry, University of Wisconsin. Topics for the day range from production problems to judging fat sheep.

Swine producers on Wednesday, March 19, will hear both sides of the controversy about meat-type and lard-type hogs, a report on the importance of sanitary practices, and discussions of feeding and marketing fat hogs and breeding animals. Speakers for the day will be C. L. Strong, L. E. Kunkle, J. S. Coffey, George L. Henning, and Arthur W. Jordan, all University staff members.

blems, and tips for farmers just starting a beef herd.

Lessons in training saddle horses and in horsemanship will be demonstrated in the ring on Friday by Jean Rittenour, Kingston, and Virginia Lewis, University students, and D. J. Kays, head of the animal husbandry department. Students will show how to fit all types of livestock for the show ring, and the annual livestock parade will start at 3:30 p. m.

NATIONAL DEFENSE FUND CUTS OPPOSED

Lilienthal Still Choice

TRUMAN WILL NOT BACK UP ON ATOM CHAIRMAN

Bitter Fight In Senate Seen Over Appointment Of Former TVA Boss

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 — The White House officially announced today that President Truman will not withdraw the nomination of David E. Lilienthal to be chairman of the atomic energy commission.

With opposition to Lilienthal increasing in the senate, the White House announcement shapes up a fight to the finish over the controversial appointment.

Lilienthal went to the White House last night for a long conference with Clark Clifford, Mr. Truman's legal counselor.

The White House said that Lilienthal did not see Mr. Truman. However, this morning, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross made the statement that the chief executive has no intention whatever of withdrawing Lilienthal's nomination.

Two members of the Republican senate majority have demanded that the President recall the nomination of the former chairman of the Tennessee Valley authority to head the atomic committee.

Sen. Carl A. Hatch (D) N. M., was one of the President's early callers today and as he left the White House he also said that he had received "the distinct impression" that Mr. Truman will not withdraw Lilienthal's nomination.

The opposition to Lilienthal is being led by Sen. Kenneth McKellar (D) Tenn., long time foe of the ex-TVA boss.

McKellar charges that TVA, under Lilienthal's administration, harbored communists. Opposition also developed after attacks were made on Lilienthal's enthusiasm for public ownership of utilities.

Sen. Kenneth Wherry (R) Neb., who has asked the President to withdraw Lilienthal's nomination says that 14 Democratic senators will vote against his confirmation.

The last time that Mr. Truman tangled with the senate over a top-rank nomination he was forced to withdraw the appointment of Edwin Pauley as undersecretary of the Navy.

Some Republicans have forecast that the senate atomic committee will favorably report Lilienthal's nomination to the senate. If this is the case, there is sure to be a bitter fight on the floor over confirmation of the presidential appointee.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

This one week has given us the anniversaries of Lincoln, Edison and efforts to raise the five cent subway fare in New York City.

The fare was five cents when Edison invented the electric light—several of his original bulbs have since been replaced in the subway.

Open hearings were held and proved interesting to many who had no opportunity to attend the Nuernberg trials.

There were a few who spoke for the 10 cent fare—their nearest of kin have been notified.

But most speakers seemed to agree that the five cent fare was inadequate to maintain the subways. Therefore, it should be continued.

In fact, I hear the city is now ordering, for one branch of the subways, signs reading "now in its 43rd year with the original cars—no advance in prices."

Big 4 Meeting Expected To Prove Decisive Phase In East-West Relations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 — The forthcoming meeting of the "big four" foreign ministers in Moscow was expected today to prove a decisive phase in the relations between the East and West.

Observers believed that the meeting, called to draft peace treaties for Germany and Austria, may determine whether the western powers and Russia and her satellite states can get along or must part.

Secretary of State Marshall has refused to discuss the meeting in advance. At his last news conference, he pleaded that he was a new member of the "team" which has gone to previous peace meetings. He admitted that he was giving almost his entire attention to the problem.

This has convinced observers that he regards the meeting as critical. He has seen almost no diplomatic visitors, spends much of his time in the state department expediting war with the economic and political aspects of Germany.

In the face of this situation, he is also confronted with the uncertainty of France's position on fundamental problems regarding Germany. France has insisted on her own retention of the Saar, which she now occupies. She has also demanded that the Ruhr be internationalized.

The United States has no objections to France's retention of the Saar, though taking the position that this should figure in France's reparations claims.

On the Ruhr, agreement seems far apart. International control is possible, but the United States is known to feel that the Ruhr should continue to function as an integral part of Europe's economy. There is some feeling that it should continue to be operated by Germans though there is wide difference on methods of control.

In addition, the big powers are expected to be sharply divided on reparations policy. The United

SENATOR FEARS ATOMIC 'LEAKS'

Solons Favors Giving Canada Secret Except For Danger From Other Nations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 — A congressional atomic committee senator said today he would favor giving Canada the atomic bomb except for increasing the danger of leaks to other countries.

Endorsing the renewal of the U. S.-Canadian defense agreement, Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D) Colo., approved also the exemption from the agreement of atomic developments. He said: "I think we should draw the line on the atomic bomb only on the basis of security. I'd trust Canada with our lives."

The agreement continued U. S.-Canadian collaboration on defense measures, the standardization of weapons and equipment, and on new developments.

A state department spokesman said that sharing of atomic information is not involved in the agreement.

The agreement comes as United States otherwise has shown increasing interest in the north polar regions as possible defense zones.

Johnson, atomic committee member and formerly a member of the military affairs committee, said:

"I wholeheartedly favor the fullest cooperation with Canada. The two countries have too much in common to have any hint of disagreement. Defenses of the two countries militarily and economically are inseparable."

Sen. Ellender (D) La., said he endorses the Canadian pact but asserted the United States "should stop there" in its defense agreements.

12 REASONS FOR NEW TRIAL OF DILTZ LISTED

Defense Motion Charges One Juror Discussed Case Before Trial

Allegation that the jury was influenced before the trial is contained in a new trial motion for Orin Diltz, 24, World War II air ace convicted of grand larceny, which was on file Thursday in the office of Pickaway County Clerks of Courts Arthur Wilder.

Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff, who presided at the trial a week ago, said Thursday a hearing on the new trial motion will be held at an undetermined time next week.

Attorneys Lemuel B. Weldon, Circleville, and Frank Redfern, Adelphi, counsel for Diltz, who filed the new trial motion, charge that one of the seven women on the jury was told "all about the case" by a deputy sheriff before the evidence was presented.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty on Feb. 5, following a three-day trial. The new trial motion was filed Saturday, Feb. 8, but it remained undisclosed until Thursday. The indictment under which Diltz was tried charged that he stole personal property valued at $285.40 from the parked auto of Vaden Couch.

Twelve reasons for a new trial are listed in the defense motion. They are (1) prejudicial error in the court proceedings, (2) verdict not sustained by the evidence, (3) prejudicial error by conduct of the prosecutor in commenting on Diltz' character, (4) verdict for the state when it should have been for the defendant, (5) error by the court, (6) misconduct of a juror in the jury room when she disclosed to other members of the jury that she had discussed the case previous to the trial with a deputy sheriff and that this juror said "I know all about this case as I have discussed it with Carl Radcliff (deputy sheriff)". (7) defendant was deprived of trial by a fair and impartial jury, (8) error by the court in permitting certain evidence to get to the jury over defendant's objections, (9) conviction not sustained by the evidence, (10) errors of law during the trial, and (11) error in the court's general charge to the jury.

Three Affidavits Filed Filed simultaneously with the new trial motion are three affidavits, as follows:

1—Affidavit by Diltz that he has no knowledge of the content of the motion.

2—Affidavit by Diltz that he has no knowledge of the content of the motion.

3—Affidavit by Diltz that he has no knowledge of the content of the motion.

WARM WEATHER IS WELCOMED BY WEARY OHIOANS

By International News Service

A sunny sky and rising temperatures continued today to thaw out cold-weary Ohio.

Industrial production was back to normal with the end of the gas shortage and only a few places in the northeastern area remained bogged down in slush and snow.

Weather bureau forecasters said that the mercury was heading into the high 40's in northern Ohio today and probably a few degrees higher in the South.

Tomorrow was scheduled to be even on the warmer and milder side.

No change to colder conditions was expected before late Saturday and there was still a possibility that a new frigid wave moving out of the Northwest may cut across Canada and miss Ohio by a few hundred miles.

British Balk At Attlee's Power Conservation Plea

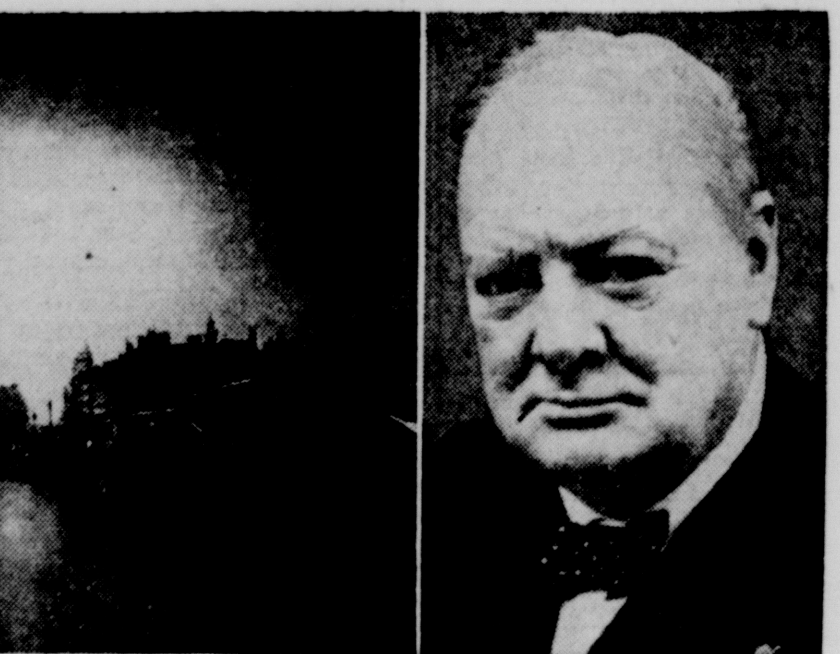

ATTLEE

HOME, COLD HOME for 47,000,000 Britons.

"BIG BEN" darkened for crisis duration.

CHURCHILL

GREAT BRITAIN'S desperate campaign to build up dangerously low coal piles in its worst winter in living history is failing despite personal pleas to the people by Prime Minister Clement Attlee, chief of the Labor government which nationalized Britain's entire coal producing industry Jan. 1. Winston Churchill charges the Labor government with "incompetence in high places" for its handling of the industrial crisis as a "freeze-up" in the nation's transportation system prevents coal deliveries. The fuel shortage has thrown 4,000,000 persons out of work in 38 of the 64 counties.

TRUMAN OFFERS Wartime Restrictions Aid To BRITAIN Return To Great Britain

President Orders Coal Sent To England To Help Relieve Crisis

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—President Truman today pledged full United States aid to Great Britain in its serious coal crisis.

The chief executive issued a statement asserting: "This government stands ready to do everything within its power to relieve the plight of the British people in their present fuel emergency."

Mr. Truman moved to help this nation's wartime ally, although no request for aid had been received from Great Britain.

The President directed Capt. Granville Conway, coordinator of emergency export programs, to determine how quickly and in what quantity coal can be landed at British ports.

The President said that there are a number of colliers at sea now in the vicinity of the British Isles, loaded with coal for other European nations and that it is hoped it may be possible to speed some of these ships to English ports.

He pointed out that it would take a minimum of 15 days to ship coal from United States ports to England and that "such shipments might very well arrive too late to help England in the present emergency."

MISSING GIRL'S BODY FOUND IN SCIOTO RIVER

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 13—The body of one of two missing Columbus girls was recovered shortly before noon today from the Scioto river.

Firemen dragging the river recovered a body identified as that of five-year-old Virginia Shoaf. They continued dragging operations in a search for the body of her missing playmate, Cathy Ann Berry, 4.

The little girls had been missing from their homes near the river since yesterday afternoon. Police reported that apparently they had fallen into the water while playing. They said there was no evidence of foul play.

TOJO'S TEETH REMIND HIM OF PEARL HARBOR

DALLAS, Feb. 13—Parents of a Dallas naval dentist today learned that the upper plate worn by former Jap premier Hideki Tojo bears a Morse code inscription reading: "Remember Pearl Harbor."

Lt. Jeff B. Bruton, 24, and two other Texans are responsible, a letter from the dentist stationed in Japan said.

Bruton and Jack R. McMahon, Longview, and Clifford Ochsbein, Texarkana, all graduates of Baylor dental school in Dallas, recently were ordered to Sugama prison to make impressions for new false teeth for Tojo.

FERGUSON SAYS GLANDER FAILS TO GET TAXES

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 13—Inefficiencies in sales tax collections, which cost the state $5 to $10 million a year, were charged against Republican state tax commissioner C. Emory Glander today by Democratic state auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Ferguson, who will address young Democrats of Erie county in Sandusky tonight said he would take Glander to task for criticizing local officials for not collecting delinquent taxes.

Ferguson said the criticism was contained in Glander's tax report submitted last week to the general assembly. Ferguson added:

"The tax commissioner admitted the taxpayers were losing at least $5 million a year for failure to enforce properly the general sales tax law in respect to vendors. Mr. Glander is criticizing others while failing to practice what he preaches."

"If Mr. Glander is too inept to conduct the affairs of the tax department for the good of the people of Ohio, then he should step down from the job and let someone who can collect all taxes properly have the position."

GEN. M'ARTHUR PATTERSON LEAD ARMS CUT FIGHT

Legislators Study Proposed Slashes In President's Budget For 1948

'WILL INVITE DISASTER'

Generals Say Further Cuts In Military Fund Will Imperil Occupation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—Gen. J. Edgar Hoover and Secretary of War Patterson spearheaded motioning opposition today to the proposed cut of $1,175,000,000 in national defense spending.

This slash, plus another $500,000,000 reduction in Army funds for foreign relief and domestic civil functions, received the chief attention of legislators in advance of the meeting tomorrow of senate and house appropriations and taxing committees.

The four committees, totaling 102 members, will be called upon to pass on a subcommittee decision to slash President Truman's 1948 fiscal year budget by six billion dollars.

Patterson declared in a formal statement that Gens. Eisenhower and MacArthur had advised him that further cuts in the military budget "will invite disaster" and jeopardize occupation tasks in Germany and Japan.

Would Mean Big Cut

The war secretary said that the proposed cut in military funds would force "major eliminations in the planned security structure of our country" and necessitate a reduction of 200,000 or 300,000 men in Army strength.

A high capitol source revealed that MacArthur had cabled a protest over any further cut in his occupation forces in Japan with the warning that "we might as well pull out" if further reductions are in prospect.

This source stated that the five-star general referred to near-riots over food shortages in Japan, and had asked the government to send "either more food or more troops". He reportedly added that if there is too long a delay both food and troops might have to be dispatched to the Orient.

Navy Issues Warning

Sen. Gurney (R) S. D., chairman of the senate armed services committee, meanwhile, made public a memorandum from the Navy, warning that a 500 million dollar reduction in its 1948 spending would render that arm of defense "practically immobile and impotent as an instrument of national policy."

The budget cut contemplates a 750 million dollar reduction in Navy funds.

'Height Of Folly'

Rep. Cannon (D) Mo., ranking minority member of the house appropriations committee, declared that it would be "the height of folly" to "hamstring" Secretary of State Marshall on the eve of the Moscow foreign ministers conference, by approving the cuts in the armed forces budget at this time. Cannon said:

"The other powers would know that the American people are not willing to back him up in foreign policy decisions. We're sending him out to hunt bear with a pop gun."

"I'll go along with any cuts in the budget, except for national defense."

12 REASONS FOR NEW TRIAL OF DILTZ LISTED

version between a member of the jury and a deputy sheriff.

2.—Affidavit by Attorney Joseph W. Adkins, that after the verdict was returned he was in the chambers of Judge Radcliff and that in the presence of Judge Radcliff, Prosecutor Kenneth Robbins, Special Prosecutor Tom A. Renick, Attorney Emmitt L. Crist, Vaden Couch and Attorney Adkins, Deputy Sheriff Ralph Leist who serves also as common pleas court bailiff, declared "I heard one of the women jurors say that she knew all about this case as Carl Radcliff (deputy sheriff) had told her all about it." Attorney Adkins' affidavit says also that Deputy Radcliff stated that "that was some time ago."

3.—Affidavit by Attorney Weldon declaring that members of the Diltz jury were specifically asked if they had formed or expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of Diltz and that each replied he or she had not formed or expressed such opinion.

New Trial Date Planned
Judge Radcliff announced Thursday that the trial of Diltz and George Clifton, 25, Route 2, Circleville, had been tentatively set for Feb. 24 on a joint indictment charging them with the $1,300 burglary of the American Legion, but that that trial date has been cancelled and a new date has not been set.

Feb. 19 has been selected, Judge Radcliff said, as the date for beginning the trial of Clifton on an indictment charging him with the $300 robbery of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and that James Jordan, 30, will be placed on trial Feb. 24 under an indictment charging him with the burglary of the James D. Butts general store at Fox several months ago.

Several weeks ago the grand jury returned several indictments against Diltz and Clifton charging burglary and grand larceny.

The seven women on the jury during the first trial of Diltz last week are: Mrs. Annabelle Mowery, Mrs. Cleo Hines, Miss Mildred Wertman, Mrs. Bernice Rawlinson, Mrs. Myrtle Hinton, Mrs. Arta James and Mrs. Blanche Puckett. The jury foreman was Chester Wolf.

County Courts

OHIO COMMISSION SUE

Participation in the state insurance fund is asked by Mrs. Frieda Hoffman, 119 East Mill street, in a suit filed in Pickaway county common pleas court, Thursday, against the Container Corporation of America. In the petition Mrs. Hoffman says that on Aug. 21, 1937 her husband, William H. Hoffman, while employed in the Container factory, was struck in his ribs and that the injuries resulted in his death on March 4, 1943. Mrs. Hoffman says the Industrial Commission of Ohio rejected her claim, she filed application for re-hearing, and that the claim again was denied Feb. 3, 1947.

SEEKS INSURANCE

Mrs. Margaret Wilson, 121 York street, filed suit in Pickaway county common pleas court, Thursday, against the Industrial Commission of Ohio, asking the court to order her participation in the state insurance fund. While employed at the American hotel, Mrs. Wilson says in her petition, she suffered back injuries when a dresser fell on her Dec. 22, 1944. Declaring that the Industrial Commission denied her claim Mrs. Wilson says she applied for a re-hearing and that on Feb. 3, 1947 her claim was again rejected.

JUDGMENT ASKED

Seeking judgment for $134.70 claimed due on a promissory note, W. C. Davis filed suit Thursday in Pickaway county common pleas court naming as defendants Ray S. Blackburn and Mabel Blackburn. His petition says the note was dated Feb. 24, 1940 and Davis asks to be awarded judgment for $134.70 plus interest at 8 per cent per annum from Feb. 24, 1941.

would look into the combining of the jobs of dean of agriculture at Ohio State University with the directorship of the agricultural experiment station at Wooster. The jobs have just been given to L. L. Rummel.

Meanwhile, Ferguson continued to hold up Bath's pay. The auditor contended that the $800 added to Bath's $8,800 base salary was obtained by subterfuge in calling Bath a "special assistant".

The law exempts the director, the assistant director and the state fair manager from the 10 per cent legislative increase.

A bill now before both houses of the legislature, said by both its sponsors to be "a Herbert measure," would establish Bath's job by law for a definite six-year term, although the director himself serves at the pleasure of the governor.

The bill was introduced in the house by Rep. Elton Kile (R-Madison) and in the senate by Sen. Joseph Nutt (R-Cleveland).

The bill also would give six-year terms to the chiefs of the divisions of animal industry, plant industry, foods and dairies and markets. Their salaries would be fixed by the director and the board of agriculture "commensurate with their training, experience and ability"—in other words, the director would be given a blank check.

The board itself would be increased from 10 to 12 members, and they would be paid $20 a day for attending as many meetings as the director would call. Now they receive their expenses only.

Deaths and Funerals

Charles Levi Smith, 69, died at 8:30 a. m. Thursday in his home at 477 Half avenue. He had lived there only 15 days and previously for 19 years farmed the Lewis farm in Pickaway township, two miles west of Gold Cliff park. Mr. Smith suffered a stroke July 22, 1946, followed by several others, the last striking him Wednesday night.

He was born in Pike county, the son of Lafayette Smith and Nancy Rose Smith.

Mr. Smith is survived by his widow, Mrs. Martha Mossbarger Smith; four daughters, Mrs. Opal Cain, 151 East Mill street; Mrs. Gail Linton, Route 2, Circleville; and Miss Martha Smith and Miss Marie Smith, both at home; three sons, Dewey Smith, Madison Mills; Weldon Smith, Route 2, Stoutsville; and Carl Smith, 105 Northridge road; four sisters, Mrs. Cora Delav, Route 1, Piketon; Mrs. Mary Mossbarger, Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Lillie Vannoy, Columbus; and Mrs. Nellie Mossbarger, Route 1, Piketon; four brothers, Dow Smith, Mt. Sterling, RFD; Andrew Smith, Route 2, Circleville; George Smith, Route 1, Delaware; and Guy Smith, Mechanicsburg; and 16 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The body was removed to the Defenbaugh funeral home and will later be removed to the residence. Time of the funeral is undetermined but services will be held in the Pilgrim Holiness church with the Rev. Alonzo Hill officiating, and burial will be in Forest cemetery.

MARY ALICE WAITE

Mary Alice Waite, 64, Columbus, died at 7:20 a. m. Thursday in Kingston after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage. A former resident of Kingston, Miss Waite was visiting a niece, Mrs. Harvey Large, when she was stricken. She had been a resident of Columbus for about 25 years.

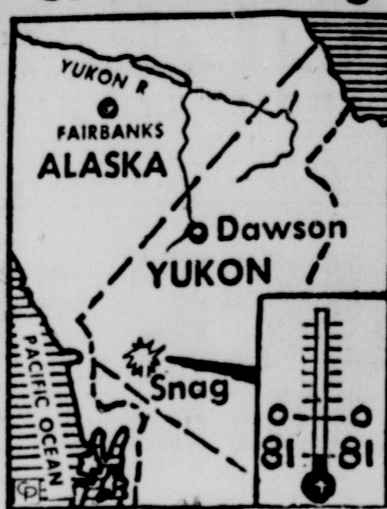

Born in Pickaway county Dec. 16, 1882, Miss Waite was the daughter of John J. and Margaret Jadwin Waite. She was a member of the Kingston Methodist church.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Ida Jack, Columbus, Mrs. Minnie Morris, Kingston, Mrs. Jeanette Holzman, Columbus, and one brother, Pearl R. Waite. The body was removed to the L. E. Hill funeral home in Kingston pending arrangements.

WILLIAM TRENT

William Trent, 78, of Maplewood avenue, died at 7 a. m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. M. H. Johnson at 422 South Pick-away street. Mr. Trent was found 10 days ago in his home, helpless and suffering from exposure, and was later given shelter in the Johnson home.

Mr. Trent was born May 21, 1868 in Virginia, the son of James Trent and Mary Trent. His wife, Isabelle Trent, died in 1935.

He is survived by a niece, Mrs. Ertha Gillespie, Springfield; and a nephew, Lester Harris, East Mill street.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a. m. Saturday at the Second Baptist church with the Rev. Harold Wingo officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery under direction of the Defenbaugh funeral home. The body will be removed to the church at 10 a. m. Saturday.

STAND back — take it all in — and make sure you don't miss a thing.

For what we've pictured for you here is the whole Highway Hit Parade of 1947 — wrapped up in one glamorous bundle.

Those long, flowing, follow-through fenders — there's a style note you'll see echoed in automotive fashions for a long time to come.

That generous beam amidships — there's the drivingroom you've been seeking, with legroom, headroom, elbowroom all around.

That broad deep bonnet spells power aplenty — eager, lively Fireball power from an engine that seems to stay forever young.

That hug-the-road look means steadiness; coil springs on all four wheels spell matchless, floating ride; wide-swinging doors open on interiors both handy and handsome in arrangement.

In a word — here's a car squarely on target, whether you go for style or size, performance or value. Here's America's most wanted car — and easily America's most sought-after buy.

So why let the crowd get ahead of you? Why wait—when waiting can only postpone delivery, not hasten it.

Just remember that faint heart ne'er won a fair car like this — and get your order in!

COUNCIL READY TO PROGRESS ON CURBING ARMS

UN Group Moves Ahead In Spite Of U. S.-Russia Dispute On Issue

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 13—The United Nations security council was ready today to take the first forward stride toward world disarmament despite U. S. and Soviet discord over the creation of a commission on general disarmament.

The whole of a resolution creating the commission to make recommendations for the general reduction of armaments other than atomic weapons within three months time will be presented for final council vote at today's session.

Despite Russia's defeat by the United States in a series of votes yesterday, little prospect was foreseen that Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko would cast a veto on the measure.

What little speculation existed on a controversial section of the fact the Russian representative abstained in the final vote on a controversial section of the resolution which specifically prohibits the disarmament commission from usurping any of the functions of the atomic energy commission.

At yesterday's day-long session, a Russian compromise proposal was defeated at U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin's insistence and the strict definition of duties written by the United States was unanimously adopted without alteration.

The security council resolution in addition to the commission provides for the council to consider as soon as possible the report submitted by the atomic energy commission and to make proposals concerning the studies which the UN military staff committee might undertake on the problems of security.

The new commission itself will

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

That Ring Around the Bathtub

Jeb Crowell blew his top the other day. Seems that for weeks he's been trying to get his youngsters to scrub out the bathtub after using it. And this night he sees two rings around it—one where young Sonny left off, and another about Pinky's level.

He raves and rants—and takes it out on the missus for her lack of discipline. And later that evening he sees her quietly polishing the hardwood table that's right by his chair. She's removing the rings he's left there with his evening glass of beer!

From now on, Jeb's careful to put his glass down on the table cover—like the missus does. And I hear he's a little more forgiving about rings around the bathtub. Just keeps on patiently reminding.

From where I sit, there are little annoyances in every family—conflicting habits and opinions in every community. A little patience—a little more "forgive and let live" is the only antidote.

COMMITTEE TO ACT WEDNESDAY ON MERGER BILL

Opponents To Conservation Unification Express Fear Of Politics

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 13—The senate conservation committee promised today to act next Wednesday on the proposed unified conservation bill after sportsmen's and soil conservation groups expressed skepticism of the measure's political implications.

At the first meeting for opponents of the bill—two previous meetings have been devoted to proponents—sportsmen and soil conservationists expressed endorsement of the principle of unification—but asked that their groups be left out of it.

Ralph W. Sanborn, Columbus attorney representing the League of Ohio Sportsmen, declared that the present "conservation department" actually is a wildlife division supported entirely by $1,600,000 annually in fish and game license revenues.

Therefore, he said, sportsmen were entitled to "special consideration," which the bill "in its present form" does not give them. He declared:

"In 1939, after 40 years, the commission was taken out of politics. The present eight-man commission, with each member serving an eight-year term, accomplishes that and also gives us continuity of program."

Clay H. Stackhouse, Wake-man, Huron county, speaking for the Ohio federation of Soil Conservation supervisors, declared that their projects, because of their educational nature, should remain under the supervision of the agricultural college of Ohio State University rather than be placed in the proposed lands division of the over-all conservation department. He told the committee:

"We're fearful of the political side of this bill. We don't want more state money, because it would destroy our initiative back home."

Pointing out that 57 soil conservation districts have been formed in the state and eight more are being activated since the program was authorized a few years ago, Stackhouse presented a resolution of his organization that requested it "be tampered with as little as possible."

"Land," he added, "is our one renewable resource."

R. Hoseney Wick, Jackson hotel operator and president of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, contended that "the bill as written does not protect the interest of the sportsman."

He presented petitions bearing the signatures of some 2,000 northeastern Ohio sportsmen expressing "strenuous" opposition to the bill. He stated:

"We don't want our commission, or any commission, to have its interest divided among six other divisions."

"There is nothing in this bill to guarantee even that sportsmen will be represented on the new commission. You might even appoint eight college professors."

After a roar of laughter subsided, Wick explained he meant no reflection on professors, "but they just might not have our interests at heart."

Henry J. Linton, another Columbus attorney representing the Central Ohio Anglers and Hunters Club, said his group was "jealous of the progress made by the present conservation commission and views with alarm any attempt to alter that program."

R. A. Lindemann, Delphos, speaking for the "Old Time Coon Hunters' Club's" 3,800 members, asserted "we don't want to see the continuity of program of our present set-up disturbed."

DIVORCE ANTIDOTE

MARRIAGE should be viewed as an opportunity to know and love another person, and as a job of sharing responsibility. This was the theme of the first lecture by Dr. Mary Fisher Langmuir, Vassar College before 150 men and women students at Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y., who are enrolled in a marriage course. Most of the 36 veterans attending the college were in the audience. Other speakers will later discuss biological and physical aspects of marriage, the profession of parenthood and vocations as well as avocations for husbands and wives.

This looks like an intelligent and dignified way to meet the growing marital tangles that are engulfing the nation's young people, particularly veterans. Crowded housing conditions make adjustment hard.

Often these young men, and women, too, are attempting to finish college courses. Studying in close quarters, interrupted by the presence of babies and under the limitation of government allowances, makes heavy strain on harmonious marriage. Courses like this at the Bronxville college will give them a perspective and an objective approach to their problems.

They will find that many other people are in similar situations during early years of marriage, and they will learn how some of these are working their way into sound and permanent marriages. They may be surprised to find that many marriages among their elders which now look as if there had never been a rift in them, had hard going in the first years, but that with affection and determination to do what was right and kind, husbands and wives made their marriages go. In most cases it can be done. Such courses help to explain how to do it.

HANDICAP OF HISTORIANS

HOW NEAR should a historian be to the times he describes. At least 15 years away, says the veteran Charles A. Beard. It will take him that long to get over his prejudices and write as a historian rather than a partisan commentator.

There is another argument for delay. Much material is not immediately available. Could anyone write of the British part in the war without seeing Churchill's memoirs, which have not yet been published. The diary of Gideon Welles, secretary of the navy under Lincoln and Johnson, did not come out till nearly 50 years later, it throws much new light on its times, and is one chief cause for the recent higher estimation of Johnson.

For both these reasons it has been suggested that the only prominent American historian today who can look forward to is the 30-year-old Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr., author of "The Age of Jackson".

Persons who talk too much should consider the Statue of Liberty. It shows Liberty enlightening the world in perfect silence.

ASSIGNMENT: AMERICA

By Kenneth L. Dixon
Distributed by International News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Not long ago, General Omar Bradley spoke sadly about the much-talked-of threat that the new economy-minded congress would chop large chunks out of the veterans administration program.

In addition to being one member of the wartime star-bearing brethren who can really claim to have been beloved by some of the most brass-hating G. I.'s, General Bradley is boss of the veterans administration.

Thus, a lot of people thought he merely was indulging in some early-bird lobbying for his own organization.

They couldn't be farther from the truth. As usual, Omar merely was giving the boys an honest briefing on the type of tough resistance they were likely to meet in the new legislative session.

For there is a definite and easily-distinguished movement underfoot on capitol hill today to ridicule the veteran as a "something for nothing" slacker, in order to slice the V. A. appropriations wherever possible and provide federal cash for more popular projects.

Understand, it isn't the congressmen themselves who are doing it. They merely are the victims of a lot of daily, high-powered lobbying aimed in that direction.

Reprints of several nationally-published articles ridiculing the "52-20 Club" suddenly have cropped up on capitol hill. If they merely stuck to the truth—that quite a lot of veterans have loafed a year on their $20 a week compensation—it still would be a matter of honest curiosity as to why they're cropping up now. Unfortunately, they haven't even stuck to the truth.

One of the articles most popularly passed around on the hill nowadays first appeared in a nationally-known ladies magazine. Then it was reprinted in a famous digest magazine. Apparently, neither the author nor the editors of either magazine bothered to check the truth of so-called facts it presented about the "52-20" club.

For at one place in his piece, the writer says that three million veterans are "now taking benefits". Subsequently, he implies that they are getting their $20-a-week for a full year.

The truth, easily available at the veterans administration, through unquestioned records, is this: never has there been even two million men on the 52-20 rolls at one time. Currently, the total is—and usually is—far below one million. Actually, only about 50,000 veterans yet have drawn their $20 a week for the full 52 weeks. That is about one-half of one percent of all the men and women who served their country in uniform.

The truth goes further than that. The average unemployed veteran—discounting those who came back to jobs which were waiting on their discharge—only collected the twenty bucks for eight to ten weeks. And that figure largely involves those kids who went into the service directly from school and had no idea what kind or type of work to look for when they got out!

I'd like to meet the gent who wrote that article. I'd also like to talk with the man who presumed on his war time service in air corps public relations to charge—in another national magazine story now widely circulated on the hill—that even amputee veterans are chiselers. In his imperishable piece of prose, he said that the bill which gave automobiles to some 16,000 veterans who lost arms and legs during the war "was high-pressured through congress in a fashion which may be a prelude to what is to come. Armless and legless vets were corralled at the Walter Reed hospital for a demonstration staged by the bill's sponsor

WHEN FOUR experts are battling each other and one of them makes a pre-emptive suit bid of three, you are likely to see fireworks also from all other points of the compass. If there is anything a fine player hates to have happen to him, it is to get stuck out of the bidding, when he thinks there is a good chance his side has the balance of power. Perhaps that is one of the weaknesses of the best performers—a very human weakness. Or perhaps it is one of their greatest strong points.

Union Guild Members Plan For Anniversary

Founding Of Group To Be Observed In March

Members of Union Guild, met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Austin Hoover, Route 2, with Mrs. Bryan Russell assisting hostess. Twenty-three members and guests were present.

Roll call was answered by the members repeating a Bible verse. "Gratitude for God's mercy" was read responsively.

Mrs. Marvin Routt, president, named Mrs. Hoover, and Mrs. Lawrence Krimmel to arrange a birthday program for the March meeting in celebration of the 14th anniversary of the Union Guild. Anniversary meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Herbert Thomas, with Mrs. O. A. Lanman assisting hostess. Welfare committee members were named, with Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Russell to head the committees. A guild party for all members and their families will be held March 1, at 6:30 p. m. with a covered-dish supper, in the home of Mrs. Olan Schooley with a full evening of games and prizes.

Mrs. Henry Butts, was in charge of the birthday celebration, held for members whose birthday anniversaries are in February. Mrs. Walter Metzgar and Mrs. Wayne Seed, honor guests were presented small plants in novelty flower containers. Sewing on comforts occupied the members during the social hours. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Circle 7 Members Meet At Heine Home

Mrs. Walter F. Heine was assisted by Mrs. Joseph Rooney, in extending hospitality for the meeting of circle 7, Woman's Society of Christian Service, First Methodist church, Wednesday evening, at the Heine residence on East Mound street.

Mrs. Roloff Wolford conducted the business meeting, and received reports, of the secretary, treasurer and ways and means committee. She discussed plans for the members to assist at dinners to be given at the church by W S C S members. A special invitation was extended to all new members of the circle to be present at the next general meeting to be held March 6 in the First Methodist church.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Virgil Cress. She presented the Scripture lesson and prayer. Mrs. Cress read a primer on "Racial Prejudices". Mrs. A. V. Couch, program chairman, presented "Children of One World". She then gave a very interesting review of the book, "Black Boy". Mrs. Wolford conducted two contests. Both were won by Mrs. O. C. King. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening's session by the hostess and assisting hostess.

PLAN MONDAY MEETING

Home and School association of Washington township will meet in the school building, Monday at 7:30 p. m. Pupils of the lower grades will present a program during the evening. Each member is requested to bring a cherry pie (or any other kind) to be used in the refreshments served at this meeting.

On rural routes everywhere in America, on snowy highways of the north, on sunny by-ways of the south, live the 5,500,000 ranch and farm families who produce America's supply of food. It's a big supply, too, the greatest in the world. From your farms and ranches in 1946 came livestock, dairy and poultry products and crops to the value of about twenty-three billion dollars, according to latest available government estimates. Meat animals and dairy and poultry products accounted for about 60 percent of the total farm cash income, current estimates reveal. Agriculture, the nation's most essential industry, is "big business" in every sense of the phrase.

Of all your cash income last year, $981,660,783* came from Swift & Company in payments for livestock and other agricultural raw materials. We purchased your livestock and other products and converted them into millions of pounds of quality meats, valuable by-products, other foods and products. Part of the money you received from Swift came from our meat packing plants, dairy and poultry plants and buying stations. Another portion of the money paid out by us was for soybeans, cottonseed, peanuts and other raw materials.

Swift provides a wide, ready, year 'round market for your livestock and other products—and out of every dollar we receive in a year from sales, we return, on the average, 75¢ to you. Last year, 1.3¢ out of each dollar of sales was profit. Part of this amount was paid out as dividends to the 63,365 shareholders as a return on their investment. Part was retained in the business for future needs.

Returns for Savings. It is not the investment of a few rich people that has built Swift & Company, but the pooled savings of 63,365 people. Among them you'll find farmers, ranchers, lawyers, doctors, mechanics, business people—folks from every walk of life... including 29,941 women.

The savings these shareholders have invested in Swift & Company provide the plants and facilities—the tools with which we handle your products. The return for their thriftiness comes to them as dividends paid out of the company's profit. In 1946 that dividend amounted to $1.90 a share.

Soda Bill Sex! ... what's wrong with people is not their ignorance, but the number of things they know that aren't so.

For People ... By People

We at Swift & Company think of our business as being owned by 63,365 people, the shareholders and their families, and operated by 66,000 employees. We provide essential services for agricultural producers and many other large groups of people. Employment is created for other thousands who work for railroads, trucking firms, livestock commission houses, stockyards companies, and the suppliers who furnish us salt, sugar, boxes, barrels, machinery and a thousand-and-one other things. A part of the business of thousands upon thousands of retailers everywhere in the nation is in purveying Swift's quality meats and other products to millions of American families.

In return for all the effort that made these services possible, the folks who work for Swift earned $164,013,099 in wages and salaries in 1946. This sum is 88% of the total remaining after all bills except taxes were paid, and is ten times more than the company's total net profit.

FEED VALUES ARE SOIL VALUES
by Wm. A. Albrecht
University of Missouri

Recently a farmer friend of mine told me, "I've moved to another farm where I get bigger yields in all my feed crops. But even though I shovel much more corn and pitch a lot more hay, I can't get my calves to market as early. I'm just not growing as much meat per acre."

This man doesn't realize that feed bulk is no indication of feed value. Livestock will not gain more on larger rations unless the feed value of any crop is derived from the basic plant food elements found in the soil. The crop must first build up the woody structure that makes up its bulk. Then, if soil conditions are right, the plant will store up a supply of the raw materials of protein, vitamins, and mineral compounds. Thus, whether a crop offers anything more than bulk and fattening power depends on the condition of the soil on which it grew. Livestock may be fed great quantities of feedstuffs produced on poor soils and still fail to gain weight. It is soil that has been guarded against erosion, fertilized properly, and carefully managed, that grows nutritious crops. Such soil will produce crops that give better feeding results and make more meat per acre.

UNION STOCK YARDS, CHICAGO 9, ILLINOIS

Nutrition is our business—and yours

"WHERE DID THAT $1,308,364,155 GO?"

During 1946 Swift & Company received $1,308,364,155 from the sale of its products and by-products. By the end of the year the Company had earned a net profit of $16,394,739, which is slightly less than 1.3¢ on each dollar of sales.

What happened to the rest of that money?

Well, the largest part was paid to farmers and ranchers who sold us livestock and other agricultural products. They got $981,660,783* or 75¢ out of the average sales dollar we received for products sold, including all by-products such as hides, wool, soybean meal, etc.

The next largest portion of our sales dollar went to all Swift employees.

Their share of the dollar was 12.6¢.

Fuel barrels boxes paper salt sugar and other supplies took 4.8¢ out of the average dollar.

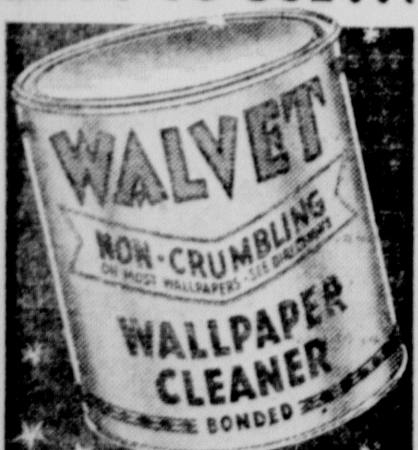

Transportation took 2¢ (Meat travels, on the average, over 1,000 miles from producer to consumer.)

Taxes took another 1¢. All other expenses, including depreciation, interest and miscellaneous business costs, amounted to 3.3¢.

All these costs taken out of the sales dollar left 1.3¢. This was Swift & Company's net profit in 1946—a profit of only 1/4 of 1¢ on each pound of the millions of pounds of products and by-products handled.

BIG PETROLEUM SUPPLY FOUND IN ALASKA AREA

Navy Reveals Exploration For Oil May Bring In Millions Of Barrels

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—Navy officials revealed today that current exploration for oil in Alaska ultimately may bring in 300 to 500 million barrels of petroleum. Secretary of the Navy Forrestal has prohibited release of detailed information on oil drilling operations and exploratory projects underway in the frozen polar regions.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, famed British explorer and polar expert, previously was revealed to be carrying out an undisclosed mission in Alaska with headquarters at naval petroleum reserve number four.

An official of naval petroleum reserves stated:

"Ultimately, we hope to get three to 500 million barrels from the reserve. An average new field in the United States today has an ultimate production of only two million barrels."

He said that "in addition, some of the coastal area between Nome and Point Barrow, Alaska, outside the reserve might be found productive" in oil.

Spokesmen said that they presumed that Russians also are conducting some exploration for oil in the polar regions. They said that no information on extent of Soviet projects is available in this country.

They asserted that the Navy's oil drilling operations in Alaska will continue unless congress withdraws funds.

An appropriation of $9,600,000 dollars has been made available for expenditures up to July 1, 1950.

Spokesmen said that if the exploration netted sufficient oil it might be advisable for the military to bring some of the petroleum from Alaska for storage.

Otherwise, it would be used to meet the local oil needs in Alaska. It was pointed out that this would mean a great deal to Alaska development and progress.

SENATE VOTES TO REPEAL 513 OLD OHIO LAWS

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 13—The program of the Ohio code revision commission was half-way through the Ohio legislature today as the senate unanimously passed three bills repealing 513 obsolete sections of state law.

One bill repealed 300 sections, many of which had been declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. Another repealed 158 sections of old canal laws, while the third repealed 55 sections of antiquated laws dealing with military affairs and historic grounds.

The house, by a 123-1 vote, passed the Simpson bill to permit appeals from the granting of motions for new trials.

Both houses held only skeleton sessions today before adjourning for the week-end.

Reps. Miller and Rose (R-Butler) introduced a resolution urging congress to assume full cost of maintaining the Miami conservancy district. The bill now goes to the senate.

Sen. George Shurtz (R-Newcomerstown) introduced a bill making it a misdemeanor to attempt to corrupt the purchasing agent of any private corporation, while Sen. William Tyrrell (R-Eaton) sponsored a measure to increase the membership of the Ohio judicial council from 14 to 15 by adding a juvenile judge.

ASHVILLE

Eugene Newton was returned home Wednesday from Berger hospital where he has been receiving care for the past few days.

Mrs. Amy Cloud was hostess to Circle 1 of the W.S.C.S. at her home Monday evening when 20 guests were present. Mrs. Hattie Rife, Mrs. Frank Morrison, and Mrs. W. O. Dountz assisted with the entertainment.

Billy Eccard of the fourth grade is ill with rheumatic fever.

Page rank was conferred on a class of candidates at Palmetto Lodge Wednesday. Plans were made to confer the esquire rank at the next regular meeting.

Stacey McClurg, former Ashville high pupil, recently returned to work after a month's hospitalization as a result of burns suffered during an explosion and fire at the DuPont factory near Charleston, W. Va., where he is employed. Mr. McClurg suffered burns on his head and arms when he re-entered a burning building, from which he had been thrown by the explosion, to shut off compressors on which he worked.

It is reported that an Ashville industry will have a new owner within a few days and that some changes in ownership of village real estate are being contemplated.

Mayor Harry Litten has been ill the past two days and has been unable to be at work.

E. A. Standbury, Derby, was a business visitor in Ashville Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ryan, Chillicothe, visited with friends in Ashville Tuesday.

CERTIFIED LEGHORN CHICKS
A few cents more invested in good chicks is money wisely invested. With eggs at 4c apiece it only takes 2 or 3 extra eggs next fall to offset the higher cost of 8 to 12c more for a better pullet now. When you buy chick, you are buying next winter's egg production. Every pullet you buy here is the daughter of an R.O.P. male of 275 to 340 eggs and a daughter or granddaughter of a R.O.P. hen of 250 to 343 eggs. Officially no Pullorum reactors the last two years.

BY RUBY JUSTER
NEW YORK, Feb. 13—There is probably no other medium of entertainment that has produced such a widespread mythology as radio.

example. His quick witted splinter brain is the product of two people—the whittler who carved his classic features and his voice and alter ego Edgar Bergen. It is even difficult to believe after seeing goggle-eyed, grinning Charlie that his voice is coming from the barely moving lips of Mr. Bergen—and I do not consider myself easily taken in.

Mr. District Attorney is as mythical as a flesh and blood Charlie. In the script, Mr. D. A. does not even own another name, except the chief, but many seek him out for legal aid of one sort or another. Ladies clubs ask him to speak.

Dr. Christian, the kindly medico, the last 10 years has acquired an identity which is more real to radio listeners than his own personality.

Despite the fact it is not necessary to identify the gentle doctor as actor Jean Hersholt, he has through the years in his radio role lost his reality in Dr. Christian.

Mr. Hersholt was born 60 years ago; Dr. Christian 10 years ago; but it is the personality of the wise, sympathetic, courageous medic of mythical River's End who is real in the minds of the sick, the well, the heart sore, even the members of the profession.

Producer Sherman H. Dryer, who has made a name for himself dramatizing developments in science on "Exploring the Un-

Annual Farm and Home Week Scheduled March 18-21

MANY PICKAWAY COUNTIANS WILL ATTEND 'WEEK'

Livestock Program Of Show At Ohio State Arranged; Speakers Named

Many Pickaway county livestock raisers are expected to attend the 1947 annual Farm and Home Week which is to be held for four days, March 18 to 21, at Columbus. Several Pickaway countians will take an active part in the program.

Ohio livestock producers will find their share of the Farm and Home Week program arranged in sections with Tuesday, March 18, devoted to sheep, Wednesday to swine, Thursday to beef cattle, and Friday to horses.

Tuesday's speakers are L. K. Bear, V. R. Cahill, L. E. Kunkle, and D. J. Kays, all from Ohio State University D. S. Bell, Ohio Experiment Station, and J. J. Lacey, specialist in animal husbandry, University of Wisconsin. Topics for the day range from production problems to judging fat sheep.

Swine producers on Wednesday, March 19, will hear both sides of the controversy about meat-type and lard-type hogs, a report on the importance of sanitary practices, and discussions of feeding and marketing fat hogs and breeding animals. Speakers for the day will be C. L. Strong, L. E. Kunkle, J. S. Coffey, George L. Henning, and Arthur W. Jordan, all University staff members.

blems, and tips for farmers just starting a beef herd.

Lessons in training saddle horses and in horsemanship will be demonstrated in the ring on Friday by Jean Rittenour, Kingston, and Virginia Lewis, University students, and D. J. Kays, head of the animal husbandry department. Students will show how to fit all types of livestock for the show ring, and the annual livestock parade will start at 3:30 p. m.
